

Advanced Manufacturing Technician

WHAT POWERS
YOU

Bloom Energy, a solid oxide fuel cell company, is looking for Assembly Technicians to join our world-class team!! Bloom Energy's mission is to make clean, reliable energy affordable for everyone in the world.

What does it mean to be an Assembly Technician?

Assembly Technicians are responsible for manual component assembly, equipment operation, preparing material kitting for assembly, quality data collection, standard work creation, and all lean manufacturing principles.

Education

- 0-4 years' experience in a high-capacity manufacturing environment.
- High School Diploma or GED equivalent.

Skill Builders

- Experience with Automated Equipment.
- Good attendance, initiative, responsible follow through and a willingness to help.
- Strong trouble-shooting skills required.
- Strong interpersonal skills & communication.
- Able to follow both written and verbal instructions.
- Must have computer skills, minimum Microsoft office.
- Demonstrated ability to use small hand and power tools, previous experience with PC-based testing equipment is preferred.
- Excellent hand and eye coordination.
- Complete tasks within standard times with minimum supervision.
- Maintain a clean and orderly work area.
- Must be able to lift 45 lbs.
- Must be able to work in a fast-paced manufacturing environment.
- Must be flexible with changing shift or work schedule.

Roles & Responsibilities

- Following standard work to assemble our fuel cell systems.
- Selecting proper materials from warehouse to complete standard work.
- Identifying and implementing continuous improvement ideas.
- Use designated inspection equipment.
- Perform minimal tool preventive maintenance.
- Assist in development of manufacturing procedures to create the most efficient processes.
- Record quality data.

Do you want to get In touch?

Contact Ryan Hampe for more information:

www.bloomenergy.com

Email: ryan.hampe@bloomenergy.com

Mobile: 302-383-0332